Building Project Update:

This stage of the building project is a waiting game. We are waiting for the building permit comments to come back from the county; for the surveyor to stake out the property; and for the ground to thaw so that the “Central Park” playground can be re-installed. Nonetheless, we are making progress in other ways. For example, Patty Freeman and Barbara Moss, professional designers and members of the Building Project Task Force, are focusing on outfitting our new spaces with FFE (furniture, fixtures, and equipment). We are having exciting conversations with the clergy about how the small Sanctuary will be used, including flexible but comfortable seating, portable ark options, and the installation of sound and video equipment. For the new office and classroom spaces, we hope to repurpose as much of our current furniture as possible, refinishing and/or recovering pieces as needed. Making these arrangements is a giant game of Tetris, and fortunately, Patty and Barbara are willing to help us play (and win) the game!
