

FAQ for 2/28/19

This building project is off and running, and the changes are evident, even on a daily basis. Our fabulous photographer, Lacey Johnson, will be memorializing our progress by taking regular photos of the evolution of our improvements. As you know, there will be work done in many different places on the property. As a result, the fencing is set up all around for our protection, which will certainly impact how you can enter the building and/or where you can park, so we have a few requests to make: Please build in extra time if you are coming for a service, an event, or a meeting. Also, please drive carefully and pay close attention to the signs (and maybe even people) telling you where to park and how to enter the building. Please consider parking off-site if you can (but not on Kirby Court and make sure not to block any neighbor driveways). We ask for your flexibility and patience as we get used to living in a construction zone. Most of all, we hope you are as excited as we are to watch the growth of our new Home for the Future of Judaism!
