

Weekly Update 1.23.2020

This week's topic is still about steel, because, well, it's super cool! From this picture, you can see the outline of the two-level walkway. The lower level will connect the classrooms to the school lobby, and the upper level will connect the clergy suite to the current building and one of the reception areas.

This next picture was taken from below, looking up. You can see the decking that is going on the “floor” of each steel structure. Not only does it give the workers something to step on while they are working on the building (which makes those of us who are worriers feel better about their safety), but it will also support the concrete that will be part of the floor. Every day we get a better understanding of how the building will look – very exciting!

As always, if you have any questions, feel free to email us at bptf@templerodefshalom.org.
