

8.6.2020 Weekly Update

Reyna Pratt, Chair of the Building Project Task Force, provides our updates as construction progresses.

Today I had the chance to walk through the nearly completed clergy/classroom addition. The tile floors are finished, carpet is laid, cabinets and bookcases are in, and it just looks amazing. Both levels look stunning, but the photos below are from the clergy suite.

Imagine this: as you walk past the reception desk, across the pedestrian bridge, you can look to the left or the right to see newly installed playground equipment. (Photos of these playgrounds will be shared at a later date.) As you enter the clergy suite, you first see music rooms. Go to your left, and then this is your view:

To the right is the glassed-in clergy conference room, and to the left is the terrace that overlooks the playground for the bigger kids.

Below is a better view of the clergy conference room. The curved window design truly is spectacular and is a favorite detail of mine!

The last photo was taken from the conference room looking out toward the terrace. The view speaks for itself.

Starting in less than two weeks, the movers will begin to put furniture into both levels of this addition. We're excited to see all of the pieces come together!
