DEFIANT VOICES: A TEREZÍN MEDLEY showcases music that was performed by prisoners in the Theresienstadt Concentration Camp. The concert includes music by Beethoven and Bach, excerpts of famed Czech operas, jazz compositions from the camp's "Ghetto Swingers," as well as oratorio, cabaret, and folk music. The performance evokes the enduring story of cultural resistance through Murry Sidlin's signature blend of live performance, film clips, survivor testimony, and powerful narration to explore the musical and artistic life of the prisoners.

WOLF BLITZER is co-anchor of The Situation Room on CNN. As the child of Holocaust survivors, Blitzer has worked tirelessly to promote Holocaust education and combat antisemitism throughout his career. The Defiant Requiem Foundation is privileged to honor Wolf Blitzer for his commitment to Holocaust education and his dedication to Holocaust remembrance.

THE DEFIANT REQUIEM FOUNDATION promotes Holocaust education and remembrance through musical performances, film, and unique curriculum materials that inspire teachers, students, and audiences worldwide to combat Holocaust denial and contemporary antisemitism. The Foundation's programs and performances are based on the story of Jewish conductor Rafael Schächter and his prisoner choir in the Theresienstadt concentration camp, who turned to art and music as an act of cultural defiance against their Nazi captors.

Underwriting for this event has been generously provided by Stuart E. Eizenstat; Allan and Shelley Holt; Patti Askwith Kenner; Rheda Becker and Robert Meyerhoff, and David Rubenstein.
